PRACTICAL POLITICS

A Synopsis of the Sermon Delivered by Rev. T. B. Terhune, Sunday.

The following sermon by a former pastor of our town will be read with much interest by many of our readers.

Then went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might entangle him in his talk. And they sent out unto him their disciples with their Herodians, saying: "Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carest thou for any man; for thou regardest not the person of men. Tell us therefore, what thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not?"

But Jesus perceived their wickedness and said, "Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites? Show me the tribute money." And they brought him a penny. And he saith unto them: "Whose is this image and superscription?"

They say unto him, "Caesar's."

Then saith he unto them, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's."

When they had heard these words, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.—Matt. 22:15-22.

This is the old question of practical politics and the answer is a practical precept for practical politics. We have come to an amazing condition in which men in a free Christian republic reiterate that we cannot put Christian principles into practical politics. In this answer the Saviour sets forth the standard for Christian gentleman and citizen, as to which standard he has no discretion whatever. He is to render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's without trying to shift nor shirk responsibility to either on account of the other. It is a command. God in Christ orders it. A man is to be a true citizen and a true servant of God as matters of equal principle, and if he finds the demands antagonistic, obedience to the one making that to the other impossible, he may know that something is wrong. Moreover, he cannot do the one without the other. There is no true citizenship without fear of God, no true service of God by a bad citizen.

If a man's religion does not affect his political course and vice versa, he is what Christ called this man here, a hypocrite. There is no use buttering parsnips with soft words. This thing in the text is possible. The theories of Christianity and American citizenship are not antagonistic. I hope to make a dispassionate approach to this great subject and refer to this for this reason. The Christian is a believer in the Golden Rule, justice, subordination to law, social purity, equality of believers before God and in free conscience, which is free thought and free speech. The citizen himself, a peer in the State, is pledged to majority rule, to loyalty to the State, to free thought, free speech and equality of social and political rights. So it is clear that the theories of the two are not antagonistic, but that they mutually demand, accentuate and fit each other, make each other possible, and the personal history of our noblest and most ignoble citizens proves the point either by confirmation or contrast.

Likewise, the obligations to the two are not conflicting. The Christian is expected to sacrifice his own good, profit or pleasure to that of the whole or for the right, to be great by service in emergencies and in daily life. A citizen is expected to support, sacrifice for and, if necessary, die for his government, to obey its laws, to take part in public functions, and in his business to do no thing detrimental to the whole, even in his own interest.

Likewise, the problems of the two are the same. The great questions today before the public are equally questions of church and State. They are all problems for Christian and citizen to face and solve. It is a point not noted by many that the great leaders of spiritual life, whose words and works constitute the scriptures, are practically with out exception men of affairs and in many cases immersed in practical politics. Now, in spite of the fact that neither in theory nor by obligation nor by confronting problems are the terms Christian and citizens antagonistic, yet there is often a distinct failure or refusal to do the simple injunction of this simple text. This is shown in the indifference of leading citizens to public life, men not vicious but careless.

They stay away from the polls on account of business or social engagements, fail to attend the party caucuses or convention, and especially the primaries. Young men are advised to keep out of politics because they are dirty, which I think is treason. I think I almost ought to say that the man who would advise a young man to keep out of politics because they are dirty ought to be shot by the State.

Who is to handle the politics of this country? Europeans or Canadians or Mexicans? None but us on the ground. And Solon was right in his law of punishing the man who did not take sides. Others refuse to do what they ought to do. It is burdensome; it costs. But a man has no more right and place in office whose time is not worth more out, than he has in the pulpit under like conditions. Others do what they ought not. They follow established political methods, even if wrong, in the political game, use political jobs for personal or business interests, seek special legislation. The result is a spirit of unrest and of selfishness. The motto, "Every man for himself and devil take the hindmost," simply cannot be lived in modern life with safety to men and institutions, for the world is filling up and if we bite and devour one another we will be consumed by one another.

Out of this indifference or refusal on the part of the good citizens to do what they should as citizens, and out of doing what is contrary to plain duty, has arisen a vast state of confusion. They cannot settle the currency tariff question and other questions. Of course not; as long as each section, individual, party, looks for its own ends we will settle none of our great questions. They will vex, torment and bedevil us until we realize that we are a family. There is no reason for a panic every few years save the reason that once existed for cholera every few years, namely filth. For that reason, under the injunction of this text I make a plea for the living patriot. Too many believe that patriots, like Indians, are only good when they are dead, and too many others believe that the true patriot is a "dead one." A living patriot finds certain features of national life repugnant to Christian betterment.

First and foremost comes the liquor traffic. I do not bring this into the pulp today because I am a preacher. When Mr. Marshall spoke the other day he handled this topic, because it is a question of practical politics. Mr. Watson likewise. Mr. Bingham, the attorney-general, did the same thing day before yesterday, because it is a question of practical politics and cannot be evaded. A man who does not know that there is a life and death struggle on in this great republic between its best institutions and the organized forces of the liquor traffic, expressing themselves in the saloon, does not know what is practical politics. Abraham Lincoln saw it and said it, and it has come to us in our day. You cannot eliminate the saloon from practical politics. It has to go into politics and keep there to live. The same thing is true of commercialism. Nothing can be more repugnant to a true patriotism than the antagonism of certain interests to the pure food laws, as for example, the refusal to stamp the date on canned goods. Another thing repugnant to the living patriot is bribery and machine politics.

Every man knows the difference between a machine and an organization. Organizations are vital, but machines are deadly. I believe that Mr. Bryan and Mr. Taft are sincere in wanting campaign fund publicity, and the citizens of this republic ought to demand that, saying to party leader, "We will no more let you put dirty deals into the palms of voters than we would put sewage into our water supply."

Now, how may the church foster, develop and protect a true patriotism, which is true practical politics? The common attitude of the respectable citizen with reference to things he hates is a shrug of the shoulder. It can not be cured; must be endured. But it can be cured. The progress of the race in these matters proves it. Our fathers have handed down to us a splendid system, but the system cannot carry itself. You cannot even use with best results a caliper that has been set by another man. You must set it yourself. So it is with our system. You must be there with a good sound heart. There is an old Jewish legend that the name of God was lost long ago and that he who finds it will have the secrets of nature and the hearts of men. So will he. And the book of Revelation promises to him that overcomes in the practical battle of life that he shall be made a pillar in the temple of his God, which temple is with men, their hearts and institutions, and upon him shall be written the name of God.

I read recently the sonorous words of that old song, "Build Thee More Stately Mansions, O My Soul, as the Swift Season Roll," and the words have haunted me since with a sense of shadow, for the mansion is usually bigger than the soul and what men need is bigger souls, which can only be got in the stress and strife of life. These men who came to Jesus and asked for a practical precept, which cynically held as impracticable, a short time later are found deeper in the political mire, clamoring for his lifeblood and foregoing their national tradition and aspiration. So much did practical politics do for them. A man must render to Caesar what is Caesar's and at the same time to God what is God's. This blind, staggering Caesar needs them more. Render to him what is his due and your religion will find its way. There is no other way.—Evening Herald, Huntington, Ind., June 13.

NEW DORMITORY

In Prospect For Baptist Institute

Plans Being Prepared.

It is the hope of the officials in charge of the Baptist Institute to have a new four story brick dormitory erected on the campus in the near future. Plans that have been inaugurated have worked very successfully, and it is now claimed that three-fourths of the amount necessary to erect the building has been secured.

This will be a great improvement to this institution and will prepare them for taking care of the student body who seek boarding while taking the course of study.

This will be a valuable addition to our city and should be encouraged by every one. A special to Monday's Louisville Times, from this city, says: "Officials of the Harboursville Baptist Institute have been very successful in raising funds for the erection of a new dormitory, and plans have been prepared for the proposed building, which will be a four-story brick. With very little soliciting, three-fourths of the required amount necessary to construct the building has been raised. Work will begin immediately."

Mathew Mitchell for Jailer.

In the proper place in this issue will be found the official announcement of W. Mathew Mitchell for the office of Jailer of Knox county.

He made the race in the primary four years ago and was defeated by only 42 votes. Mr. Mitchell is well known to almost every voter and on account of his clever, polite, gentlemanly manner, he has made hosts of friends.

He was born and raised on Richland creek in this county and has lived in the county, all his life he has always taken an active part in politics working and speaking in the various parts of the county helping to get the vote to the polls.

He is an active member of the Masons, Red Men Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, and Junior Order of American Mechanics, and is a very prominent and influential worker in each of these orders.

If nominated and elected he would make a worthy and painstaking official and would not shrink from his duty.

He is relying upon his friends to carry him through in this contest and he enters the race with that confidence that inspires his friends to work for his election.

No better Republican can be found anywhere than he is and if defeated this time he will submit as he did in the former race, but if elected he will do his duty faithfully and well.

Death of Mr. Will Hamblin.

"Uncle Will" Hamblin, one of the best citizens of the southside of the Cumberland, died last Friday morning at his residence near the Ketchin Schoolhouse. He was a quiet, unassuming citizen, but had the respect of all who knew him. He was a friend to the poor and one of his characteristics was that he never charged but fifty cents for a bushel of corn, no matter how high it was in market, but he kept it for the benefit of the poor. He will be greatly missed in the locality where he had lived for so many years.

BAND CONCERT

Liberal Attendance And Greatly Enjoyed by all Present.

Last Tuesday night a band concert was given at the court house, for the benefit of the Red Men's Band.

The Aid societies of the different churches agreed upon the plan, and each society had a table at which refreshments were furnished and served.

The band rendered a splendid program, and it was enjoyed by the large crowd in attendance.

The ladies were all very fortunate in selling all their ices and cakes that they had prepared and the rivalry between the various tables was pleasant and interesting and the proceeds from each was near equal.

The amounts realized by the different tables were as follows:

Baptist table	$5.25
Presbyterian table	$6.00
Christian table	$6.00
Methodist table	$5.00
Total	$22.25

This was all given over to the band and it will be quite a little help to them in a financial way, but not so much that, as it shows to the boys that our people appreciate their efforts and want to help them.

The Red Men's band is now the only band in this section of the state, and it should be encouraged and kept organized, should this band quit we would not have one closer than Richmond, or Lexington, therefore those who appreciate band music should lend a helping hand and speak a word of encouragement for our band boys.

They have always willingly and cheerfully played for any and everything, no matter what when called upon and almost invariably without making any charge whatever for their services, and now that they have reached a degree of proficiency in their music where they compose favorably with the best bands in our country, and have worked faithfully and earnestly to reach this stage of proficiency without calling upon our citizens for assistance, we feel that our citizens should feel themselves under lasting obligations to assist the boys in any way possible and show our appreciation of their efforts.

A good band is a splendid advertisement for any town.

Big Doings at Lexington July 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

Lexington will have, what promises to be, the largest entertainment ever attempted in the Bluegrass, at the beautiful Fair Grounds on July 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

It will consist of balloon races between two mammoth balloons with bursting bombs and paraballs leaping twice each day, afternoon and evening, circus, wild west, big outdoor aerial acts, trained animal shows, dogs, pony and monkey circus, running, trotting and relay races, all free for one admission.

There will also be several pay shows, merry-go-rounds and all kinds of amusements for which a small price will be charged but all the big shows mentioned above will be in the open, free to all who pay admission at the big gate. The big gate show is guaranteed to please and there will be excursions on all railroads and tractions.

On July 4th the Order of the Mystic Shrine will initiate over one hundred candidates and they will take part in the big parade on that date.

There will also be a reunion of the Spanish-American War Veterans on July 2nd, 3rd and 4th.

CUMBERLAND

Railroad Will be Built at Once

Money Secured to Put Work Through.

Mr. B. C. Milner, of Artemus, manager of the Cumberland Railroad, has succeeded in placing a first mortgage upon the Cumberland Railroad property and secured $3,000,000 to be used in completing this road. One million has been secured for immediate use and two millions are reserved.

The Standard Trust Company of New York, has made the loan and the mortgage has been filed and ordered for record with the clerk of the Knox County Court.

This means a great deal for Knox county and insures the completion of the road through to Jellico where it intersects the Southern Railroad.

An effort should now be made to have the line extended to this city from Artemus and have the offices of the company located here.

This can be done no doubt if properly looked after and some encouragement given to the movement.

This road when completed will give a competing line into the South and will prove of inestimable value to the people of this county.

We are glad to note this much needed improvement for our county.

SAGE OF PRINCETON DEAD

Dies at Westlake, N. J., Wednesday Morning.

Grover Cleveland, ex-president of the United States, died suddenly at his home at Westlake, N. J., Wednesday morning of heart trouble.

President Roosevelt wired Mrs. Cleveland condolence, and will attend the funeral.

Grover Cleveland was born in Essex, N. J., March 18th, 1837. Admitted to the bar in 1859.

Elected President in 1884, defeating James G. Baine. Was defeated for re-election in 1888 by Harrison, and in 1892 was re-elected over Harrison.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The cases of the four Gambrell brothers charged with the murder of John Gambrell, a cousin, has consumed practically all the time of the Court for almost two weeks past and promises to consume the remainder of this term. The four Gambrell brothers asked for and obtained separate trials which means that this case is to be tried four times when the testimony is practically the same in each case.

Aside from this case there has been little done since last week.

What Are Brains Used For?

Prof. Raine, of Berea College, spoke to a large and enthusiastic audience here Wednesday morning at the courthouse on the above subject.

Brains are used in a great many useful ways. Some people blow out what few brains they have—while others use them to the best interest of the community in which they live. The remarks of the Prof. was listened to with interest by the large audience present.

Prof. Portney Announces for School Superintendent

Elsewhere in this issue appears the announcement of Prof. J. H. Portney, for the office of Supt. of Schools of Knox county.

Prof. Portney is one of the county's most popular teachers, having taught a number of schools in this county, and is regarded as one of the leading educators in the county. His experience in the schoolroom fits him for the position he seeks and his past party record recommends him to the Republicans of Knox county.

He places his claims in the hands of his friends and will submit to the result of the voters as expressed at the primary, and if elected he promises to faithfully and earnestly discharge the duties of the office to the best of his ability.

He asks for a fair consideration of his claims.

W. H. Davis For Jailer.

In today's issue appears the official announcement of W. H. Davis, of Artemus, as a candidate for the office of Jailer of Knox county.

Mr. Davis is a son of the old preacher, Jack Davis, deceased, who at one time was Assessor of this county.

Mr. Davis is well-known to almost every voter of Knox county, having traded in stock throughout the entire county. This is the first time he has ever asked the people of Knox county for their votes.

He places his claims in the hands of the party he has all along worked so faithfully for and feels that he has a right to expect the support of those who stand loyally to tried and true Republicans.

He is a laboring man and has always given his support to the laboring class and now he comes asking that they remember him at the polls.

He will, however, submit to the choice of the people and will abide by the results.

Knox County Colored Fair Association.

The Knox County Fair Association has been duly incorporated, and will hold their first session at the Knox County Fair Association's grounds, for the year 1908, with full and complete program, good premiums, and all kinds of amusements; in fact this company has made arrangements to give to one and all TWO DAYS of fun and amusement and a general good time. Catalog and general program will follow later, which for it.

THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

Pleasant Evening Reveries.—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.—Crude Thoughts from the Editorial Pen.

Show me the woman who sometimes has supper at five o'clock and sometimes not till eight; sometimes dinner at noon, and sometimes no dinner at all; sometimes a being good bread and cake and meat, and sometimes sour bread and other things to match—and I will show you one who can at rise a family of healthy children, nor keep so herself. The husband of such a woman will more than likely, lament that he ever married such a "ne'er do well," and generally misery will be the outgrowth of the unstable management of a foolish woman.—We hasten to say, however, that there are no such women in Barbourville, as they'll cook all that's laid on the kitchen table.

SOUR OR SWEET.

That's the question, my brother, and it's not a mean one, either for many of us had rather take a dose of salts than walk with your long-as-a-rail face.

Your dyspeptic brain, torpid conscience and sour disposition make you anything but agreeable company. You are called a christian too. Well, maybe you are, but the fact is not believed by many on earth. Possibly you may console yourself with that thought they know it in heaven. We doubt it.

Why go through the world always in a fog? You dishearten many, gives others the blues, and keep scores under clouds of doubt and darkness. You make out that the path of the just is not "as a shining light," that the way is one of gloom, and difficult. The way of the transgressor is hard but surely not the path of obedience in which you claim to be walking.

Swing around, my brother, and get your eye off of self. "Rejoice evermore." Give up your sourness; pay up your subscription to this paper for three years; quit looking like a graveyard. Take the sunny side of the street. Laugh once in awhile. Get off your stilts and walk with humble folks, cheer up, tone up wake up and see it milk is not better than vinegar, or in other words, if it is not better to be sweet than sour.

Don't find all your "good people" among the departed, but seek to discover a few among the living. It will make you and the world happier to get into this habit.

A MODEL HOME.

We often wonder why there are no more homes that can safely be spoken of as models. It would seem as if those who pass their lives in the country—whose daily occupation brings them in constant contact with the varied beauty of field, and forest, mountain, and plain—who are constant witnesses of Nature's great mysteries—would, of course be filled with nobler thoughts; their eyes would gather continual delight from the beauties about them; and their whole lives shape themselves in grander forms as a natural result of their surroundings. Yet it is undeniably true that in gathering up riches for the future—which all they may never behold—they forget the claims of the present, and allow their souls to grow less instead of great. So it comes to pass that the children going out of these houses, and finding themselves, as they often may, in refined and polite society for a time, become disgusted with home, and seek a life that shall give the advantages which they suppose they cannot obtain in the country. Is it not folly to be so intent upon things which perish with the using, as to forget higher aims? Is it not an evil when parents allow themselves to be so absorbed by cares that they neglect to instruct their children in the proprieties of every day life, to say nothing of the small sweet courtesies, the little acts of grace so fruitful of good? A brief notice of a Model Home points out the effects of a better way.

THE BOY AND HIS MOTHER

One of our young men ask us the following question:

"What do you think of a young lady while in the company of a dullest masquer, remarking of an old schoolmate, that 'he is a good boy, but tied to his old mother's apron strings and is no good on earth.' Will not the boy come out ahead if he up ports and cares for the mother?" Come out ahead? Well, of course he will. A girl who would make such a remark is not worthy to blacken the shoes of a boy who is kind to his old mother. Such a girl has no more heart in her than a turnip, and is only fit—oh, she isn't fit for anything. She ought to be taken across the knee of her own mother until she thinks it is about the middle of August. The meekest men in the world are those who have allowed themselves to drift away from their mothers and forget all about them. The best and the bravest men in the world are those who when doing something pleasant for the kind old mother. The most heartless thing in the world is for a person to make such a remark as that quoted above about a young man who is proud of his mother, and loves her so that a tear in her eye is like a drop of melted lead in heart. The young man who heard of such a remark being made about his relations with his mother no doubt felt that he had rather not have heard of the remark, but it is lucky that he did, if he thought he had any affection for that girl. She would not have said it in his hearing.

ing, which shows that she is a hypocrite and is a two-sided person. If he married that girl he would have a little bell of his own. Such a girl would make a man wish he had never seen any woman except his own mother. No matter how close the relation between a mother and son, a day is liable to come when the son will find a girl that he will marry, and though he may not think less of his mother, he will not have quite so much time to devote to her, but if he is such a son as the one mentioned, there will never be a day but he will think of some thing that he can do. His good wife, if she is good, will join him in any thing that can make the mother who bore him happy. And a day will come when the mother will lay down her knitting, and take off her spectacles, and her burden of life will be laid down, and her last prayer will be for the son who has been joked by a fool girl for being tied to her apron strings, and she will close her eyes in death with that feeling that of all of God's best gifts to a mother, a dutiful, loving son is the greatest. Those sons who have followed the counsels of a loving mother, and who have, perchance, followed the remains of that mother to the grave and heard the cold clay rattle on her last resting place, and who have gone away from the scene with hearts bowed and broken, will never in their choice of partner for life, take one who has ever spoken unkindly of a son who is kind to his mother. No boy need ever be ashamed to be called his mother's boy, and no person with a soul to save will ever make trifling remarks on so sacred a matter as the love of a son for a good mother.

The Jones Circus.

Jones' circus was in town last Saturday and gave two performances, one in the afternoon and one at night.

The crowd was fairly good in the afternoon but at night it was small. The show was all that could be expected of a wagon show at this day and time.

It was a one-ring show, but some of the attractions were good. The contortionist was as good as can be seen with any of the larger shows. The trapeze and slack wire performance was first-class.

The trained ponies and dogs were not up to the standard, but gave a fairly good performance. Every thing was quiet and orderly and all seemed to be satisfied.

● BASE BALL. ●

Indians Play Ball.

The ball games here last Saturday between Green's Nebraska Indians and the Barbourville team, was very much one-sided. Two games were played, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. In the forenoon the score stood 5 to 2 in favor of the Indians, and in the afternoon it was 14 to 2 in favor of the Indians. The Indians play clean, fast ball, and are gentlemen both on and off the field. They have a thorough knowledge of the game and know exactly how to win. They are as swift as a horse on foot and never lose their head.

This team would give any league team a run for the money.

Deciding Game.

Last Tuesday afternoon a deciding game of base ball was played here between Barbourville and Middleboro on the home grounds to decide a tie between the teams as each had won a previous game.

Seven innings were played and resulted in favor of Middleboro, the score being 7 to 3.

Barbourville lost the game in the very beginning and allowed the visiting team to score twice on each of the two first innings.

Toward the close of the game the home team began to play stronger but they had allowed the visiting team too much the start of them to win the game from them.

YOU MAY HEAR OR SEE STATEMENTS MADE BY MY Competitors that they are selling goods at low prices, but I say to the trade, that you have heard the wind blow lots of times. Now I want to say to you for all time to come, that you can always find goods at the Mammoth Store at as low prices as any of my competitors can afford to sell them, and if I sell them to you lower I hope you won't grumble at it. My motto is Quick Sales and Short Profits.

I have been connected with the goods business for 38 years, and I have heard it thunder often during the time. Have just received a fresh car-load of flour, also a car-load of hay which I expect to offer to the trade at prices I am confident will meet all competition. I am not in the business to be side-tracked.

I am noted for being ready to talk and name low prices when they come to see me on all kinds of goods I handle.
